Get Tested, San Francisco!

Purpose of Rapid Antigen Testing

- Get COVID-19 results in 15 minutes
- Test on day 5 or later in order to return to work, school or other non-healthcare settings
- Help stop the spread of COVID-19
- If you have symptoms or were exposed to someone with known or suspected COVID-19, you should be tested regardless of your vaccination status

Understand your Results

What to do if you test POSITIVE

- Stay home and isolate away from others for 10 days, or
- You may return to work after 5 days if you are getting better or you never had symptoms AND you have a negative test on day 5 or later
- Wear a well-fitting mask if you are around others, indoors and outdoors, for 10 days total from the start of your symptoms or positive test
- Tell your close contacts that they may have been exposed to COVID-19
- Contact your primary care provider and call 911 if you have any of the following:
  - Trouble breathing
  - Persistent pain or pressure in the chest
  - New confusion
  - Inability to wake or stay awake
  - Bluish lips or face

San Francisco Department of Public Health

What to do if you test NEGATIVE

- If you have symptoms or were exposed, wear a well-fitting mask around others, indoors and outdoors, for 10 days total from the start of your symptoms or close contact exposure
- If you begin to feel new symptoms, get re-tested as soon as possible, stay away from others, and reach out to your primary care provider
- If you have symptoms and did not have close contact to someone with COVID-19, you may return to work once you are feeling better
- If you have been in close contact to someone with COVID-19, find out how long you must stay home and away from others here: https://sf.gov/closecontact

What to do about unclear results

Re-testing may be needed. Contact your health care provider if your rapid antigen test was inconclusive, or if it was negative and you have concerns or you continue to have symptoms of COVID-19

If this test was requested by your employer, please contact them for instructions about how to report your test results

Get Help:

- Call the COVID Response Center line at 628-217-6101 for vaccination appointments, testing information, and isolation and quarantine support
- Support for food resources, bill payments, and other social service needs can be found at: sf.gov/covid